SECTION ONE

A market-driven look at value.

Three condition-based valuations grounded in recent twin/semi-detached sales in West York Boro give you a complete picture of what 1508 Stanton Street is worth today — and what it could become.

RECOMMENDED LIST PRICE

Reflects the Scenario Two strategy — the home presented with moderate, market-standard updates — anchored to 44 N Clinton's trajectory as the cleanest comparable no-garage twin. Defensible list-price bracket: $165,000 to $185,000. As-is value today (Scenario One) sits at $155,000 if the seller chooses to list without updates.

This report presents three valuation scenarios for 1508 Stanton Street, anchored exclusively by recent twin/semi-detached sales in West York Boro. Each scenario reflects a different level of investment in the home — from an as-is sale today, to a moderate update package, to a full studs-out renovation.

Why the comp pool matters. 1508 Stanton is a twin/semi-detached — a shared-wall home — and twins in this market trade meaningfully below detached single-family homes for the same condition tier. The comp set used in this report is restricted to twins only, with closed and active sales over the past 11 months ranging from $169,900 (pending) to $195,000 (fully renovated with a 2-car garage and two baths). The current asking price at 44 N Clinton — a no-garage twin with kitchen and bath updates — tells us where the ceiling sits for that condition tier: $185,000 and still on market after 37 days.

Two headwinds for the subject. 1508 Stanton has only one bathroom (most close comps have 1.5 or 2), and no garage (only one comp out of six lacks one). Both of those weigh on price across all three scenarios.

Subject was last purchased in March 2022 for $110,375 — well below market, consistent with a foreclosure or estate transaction — and has since operated as a rental at $1,295–$1,575/mo. The current rent of $1,295/mo sitting below the $1,500 Rent Zestimate signals the home is livable but not turnkey.

SECTION TWO

1508 Stanton Street.

A 1,216-square-foot three-bedroom twin in West York Boro — the type of home that built this neighborhood.

ADDRESS 1508 Stanton Street	CITY, ZIP York, PA 17404	NEIGHBORHOOD West York Boro
STRUCTURE TYPE Twin / Semi-Detached	BEDROOMS 3	BATHROOMS 1 full
LIVING AREA 1,216 sqft	PARKING Off-Street (no garage)	SCHOOL DISTRICT West York Area
LAST SALE $110,375 · Mar 2022	2025 PROPERTY TAX $3,815/yr	CURRENT RENT $1,295/mo (off market)

Neighborhood profile. West York Boro is a stable, walkable residential pocket on the west side of York City — rows of older brick twins, Cape Cods, and Colonials built primarily between 1920 and 1950, served by the West York Area School District. The Stanton Street corridor sits a few blocks from West York Area High School and the York Expo Center, which hosts the annual York Fair and 160+ events a year.

The twin market in West York. Twins on these blocks share a wall but typically have their own yard, parking strategy, and basement. They appeal to a specific buyer pool: first-time FHA/conventional buyers, small landlords, and investors looking for a stable rental. The pool is consistent, but it's a narrower band of price tolerance than the detached market — buyers know what a twin "should" cost and don't easily stretch above the ceiling.

Why this matters for value. The same kitchen renovation, the same LVP, the same bath update will produce a different sale price on a twin versus a detached home on the next block. The valuations in this report reflect that reality.

SECTION THREE

The twin comp set.

Six West York Boro twin/semi-detached sales — closed, pending, and active — that bracket the value of 1508 Stanton across every condition tier.

ADDRESS	STATUS	PRICE	$/SQFT	BD/BA	SQFT	GARAGE	CONDITION
44 N Clinton St Anchor comp · no garage	ACTIVE 37 DOM	$185,000 $200K → $195K → $185K	$137.65	3 / 1.5	1,344	No	Updated kitchen & bath, LVP, partially fin. basement. C/A not operational.
1656 Monroe St	PENDING 5 DOM	$169,900	$147.48	3 / 1	1,152	1-car	New gas heat, central A/C, water heater, replacement windows. Carpet/paint needed.
1628 W Philadelphia St	CLOSED 5/13/26 · 4 DOM	$187,000 $7K over list	$159.01	3 / 1.5	1,176	2-car	Estate sale, sold as-is. Dated interior, brick gas fireplace. No central A/C.
1626 W Philadelphia St Top-of-market · renovated	CLOSED 7/18/25 · 7 DOM	$195,000	$154.76	3 / 2	1,260	2-car oversized	Fully renovated 3 years ago. Quartz, SS, subway tile, LVP, both baths redone, new windows.
46 N Clinton St	CLOSED 12/01/25 · 14 DOM	$179,900	$114.15	3 / 1	1,576	1-car	"Very Good" condition, hardwoods throughout, new mini-split (2024). FHA buyer.
1622 W Philadelphia St	CLOSED 12/17/25 · 33 DOM	$175,000 $9.9K under list	$138.89	3 / 2	1,260	1-car	Hardwoods, finished basement (low ceiling), window units. $6K seller concessions.

Reading the comp set. The twin market in West York is currently bracketed by $169.9K (pending, no-frills with 1-car garage and big-ticket items done) on the low end and $195K (fully renovated with 2 baths and oversized 2-car garage) on the high end. Closed prices over the past 11 months have ranged from $114.15/sqft (larger home, basic condition) to $159.01/sqft (estate sale that drew a multiple-offer situation). The active 44 N Clinton listing is the cleanest analog to subject — updated condition, no garage, currently testing the market at $185K after dropping from $200K and sitting at 37 days. That sets the realistic ceiling for an updated no-garage twin: roughly $175–$180K at sale.

SECTION FOUR

Three paths, three prices.

Where 1508 Stanton lands depends on how much — if any — work goes into the home before listing.

SCENARIO ONE · CURRENT CONDITION

As-Is, *today's value$145,000 – $165,000Point estimate $155,000 · ~$127/sqft

Reflects the home as it sits today based on the most recent rental listing: stainless appliances in a basic kitchen, original or builder-grade cabinets and bath, mixed/older flooring, dated trim and paint, no garage, one bath. Prices below 1628 W Philadelphia ($187K with 2-car garage and 1.5 baths) and below 1656 Monroe ($169.9K pending with 1-car garage and updated mechanicals). The current $1,295/mo rent — below the $1,500 Rent Zestimate — confirms livable but not turnkey. Buyer pool: investors and handy first-time homeowners with FHA financing.

SCENARIO TWO · RECOMMENDED LISTING STRATEGY

Medium / normal homeowner upgrades

RECOMMENDED STARTING POINT

$165,000 – $185,000Point estimate $175,000 · ~$144/sqft

Assumes a "lived-in nice" package: refreshed kitchen with newer cabinets and counters, updated bath, LVP or refinished hardwood throughout, fresh neutral paint, modern fixtures, working HVAC, basic curb appeal. Anchored to 44 N Clinton's trajectory — a directly comparable no-garage updated twin currently asking $185K after price drops and likely to settle in the $175–$180K range. Subject is smaller (1,216 vs 1,344 sqft) and has one fewer half-bath than 44 N Clinton, which pulls the point estimate slightly below it. Buyer pool: conventional first-time buyers and small landlords.

SCENARIO THREE · TOP OF MARKET

Fully renovated, *9/10 condition$180,000 – $200,000Point estimate $190,000 · ~$156/sqft

Assumes the 1626 W Philadelphia level of work: full gut, opened floor plan, quartz counters, soft-close cabinets, stainless steel appliances, subway tile, LVP throughout, both baths fully redone, replacement windows, fresh exterior. 1626 W Philadelphia closed at $195K at $154.76/sqft — but it had two full baths and an oversized 2-car garage, both of which subject lacks. Applying ~$155–$160/sqft to 1,216 sqft and discounting for the missing garage and second bath supports a $185–$195K landing zone. Pushing above $200K is the realistic ceiling for a no-garage one-bath twin in this market.

Ceiling caution for Scenario Three: The no-garage and single-bath constraints are the binding limits. Buyers tolerating those compromises on a twin tend to top out around $195–$200K. Even a beautifully executed renovation won't unlock a higher price unless you can add a half-bath on the main floor or convert to off-street parking for multiple cars — and neither of those is likely cost-effective on the renovation budget.

SECTION FIVE

Where the range tightens.

The ranges above are intentionally wide. A walk-through narrows them by 30–40%. Here's what we'll look at.

WALK-THROUGH PRIORITIES

- HVAC — working central A/C, mini-split, or window units only. (Note: 44 N Clinton's non-operational C/A is one reason it's sitting on market.) New central HVAC is a $5–10K value swing.
- Roof age — visible age and any sag/curling. New roof in the last 5 years adds $5–8K; original costs $8–12K.
- Kitchen — original cabinets and laminate vs. refaced and painted with newer counters vs. brand-new cabinets and quartz (1626 W Philadelphia level).
- Bath — original tile/tub combo vs. fully tiled walk-in or modern tub surround.
- Half-bath addability — the single biggest price lever on this twin. A main-floor half-bath could push Scenario 3 toward $200K+.
- Flooring — carpet over hardwood (upside) vs. original LVP/laminate vs. brand-new LVP throughout.
- Windows — original single-pane wood vs. vinyl replacement (matters for FHA appraisal, the most likely buyer financing).
- Electrical panel — fuse box or Federal Pacific is a red flag at appraisal; 100A+ breaker box is clean.
- Basement — full / partial / crawl, dry vs. evidence of water. Finished area adds $5–10K on a twin (less than on a detached because basement square footage doesn't typically count above grade).
- Off-street parking — one tight spot vs. a concrete pad for two cars. Real money for the buyer pool on this block.
- Shared wall condition — noise transfer, any visible cracking, condition of the property next door (curb appeal of the neighbor affects subject's perceived value).

One important market context. The March 2022 sale at $110,375 was well below market for that period — similar twins on Stanton and the surrounding blocks were trading $140–$170K then. That pattern is consistent with a foreclosure, sheriff sale, or off-market estate transaction. The current owner likely acquired it as a rental, did minimal cosmetic work to make it rent-ready, and has been collecting $1,295/mo since.

What's next. Once we walk the home together, I'll tighten these three scenarios into a single recommended list price with a defensible bracket above and below, build a presentation strategy based on the actual condition we observe, and outline a pre-listing prep punch list with cost estimates if any high-ROI improvements make sense. From signed agreement to live on MLS is typically 7–10 days.
